

THE ARCHAEOLOGY OF SOMERSET

Edited by Chris Webster & Tom Mayberry

Over the past 15 years the popularity of archaeology through television and the media has increased enormously. Somerset has been at the cutting edge of the latest developments, shown through numerous Time Team programmes presided over by Professor Mick Aston – the former Somerset County Archaeologist, who has written the foreword to this book.

From the Palaeolithic and Mesolithic eras through to the archaeology of the recent past, this exciting and superbly illustrated volume charts the history of Somerset from the earliest times. Whether you know a lot about the subject or very little, this is sure to be a book which informs and surprises you, as it uncovers part of the rich and complex past of a county like no other.

Contributors include Professor Mick Aston, Chris Webster, Stephen Minnitt, Talya Bagwell, Christopher Norman, Robert Dunning, Robert Croft, David Dawson and Brian Murless.
