PORTSMOUTH FIRST

Anthony Triggs

REPRINT

Portsmouth triumphant! In this lively collection of Portsmouth superlatives, Anthony Triggs explores how the city led the country and sometimes the world – from the invention of the unpickable lock by Jeremiah Chubb to the creation of Sherlock Holmes by Conan Doyle, from the birthplace of Charles Dickens to the scene of the last fatal duel in England. Anthony Triggs journeys down the highways and sidestreets of Portsmouth's past to reveal the grand, the odd, the unusual but the always fascinating events, people and places that have made Portsmouth First.

Anthony Triggs is the author of 14 previous books on the history of the Portsmouth area, including Sunny Southsea, Portsmouth: the Shattered City and Portsmouth Pastimes for Halsgrove.

He is a retired journalist and lives at Portchester with his wife Sue.
