REPRINT PORTRAIT OF NEWCASTLE

Tony Hopkins

Newcastle is one of Britain's most vibrant and hospitable cities, a mix of ancient and modern with a skyline as distinctive as New York and a contemporary culture the equal of any in Europe.

The city has been a key settlement at least since Roman times. Pons Aelius, a bridge and fort at the start of the original Hadrian's Wall, lies at the foundation of modern Newcastle. Over and beside this stands a Norman keep, and close by are fragments of the medieval town walls that helped protect the settlement through the Border Wars. Shipbuilding and coal brought prosperity and expansion, and while the riverside was bustling and brash, the civic heart of the city centred on classical architecture and the elegant sweep of Grey Street and Grainger Town.

The mixture of grand buildings, green spaces, historical pubs and churches, a great river and a maritime outlook, have helped to give Newcastle/ Gateshead a unique character. In recent years a revitalised Quayside has made the place the hub of contemporary art and music, and a successful football team, two universities and a thousand clubs and restaurants have kept its atmosphere lively and colourful, day and night.

The photographs in this book were taken over a period of three months, from late winter to early summer. Tony Hopkins has caught the spirit of Newcastle/Gateshead in a single heartbeat: the choice of material is based on the most exciting, beautiful and essential features of one of Britain's favourite cities.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Tony Hopkins is a writer, illustrator and photographer with a life-long involvement in field studies, conservation and countryside management. For fifteen years he was Interpretation Officer and Head of Visitor Services for Northumberland National Park, before leaving to establish a freelance career in countryside interpretation. Born and raised in Derbyshire, Tony lived in Northumberland for twentythree years and has written and illustrated several acclaimed books about the farming, wildlife and cultural heritage of Northern England.

HALSGROVE CATALOGUE

The full Halsgrove catalogue is available free or visit www.halsgrove.com for regional and category listings of available titles.

Trade sales: Sue Rhodes-Thompson – DDI 01823 653770 suet@halsgrove.com

Halsgrove Publishing Halsgrove House, Ryelands Industrial Estate, Bagley Road, Wellington, Somerset TA21 9PZ Tel: 01823 653777 Fax: 01823 216796 www.halsgrove.com e-mail: sales@halsgrove.com

HALSGROVE TITLE INFORMATION

PORTRAIT OF NEWCASTLE

Format:Hardback, 144 pages, 214x230mm,profusely illustrated in colour throughout.Price:£14.99ISBN:978 1 84114 393 4Imprint:HalsgrovePublished:2004, revised & reprinted March 2010

Timber-framed frontage at Bessie Surtees House.

Blackfriars – a cloister surviving from a medieval Dominican friary – founded in 1239 on a site beside the City Walls.

A lay-by on the A167 allows easy access to visit Antony Gormley's towering Angel of the North.

The quieter side of St James' Park: mute swans in Leazes Park.

outs sheltering at the mouth of the Ouseburn as the tide ebbs

The Tyne on one of its showpiece days, the University Boat Race, with crowds gathered along the Quayside and on the Millennium Bridge. The race takes place every May between local rivals Durham and Newcastle. Durham usually wins.

A city profile of shifting styles. The reflection of All Saints' Church in the shimmering Tyne adds a touch of Monet to the scene.

The Ouse Burn, looking north from Byker Bank. This area of the city, once known for its innovative craft industries, is now being revitalised as a creative business area.

Example of a double-page spread.