HALSGROVE DISCOVER SERIES

JANE AUSTEN'S KENT

A major part of Jane Austen's life experience was gained in Kent during prolonged holidays that afforded much happiness as well as inspiration and material for her novels. Jane's family were from Kent and many of her relatives lived in the county. She visited them here while still a young girl and it was later in Kent she gained detailed knowledge of the country-house life of her time.

Jane's paternal ancestry can be traced back through seven generations of yeoman farmers who had established themselves in the Weald of Kent over a period of two-and-a-half centuries. Jane's father, the Reverend George Austen was born in Tonbridge and spent his formative years in this ancient town on the River Medway. Our first knowledge of Jane herself being in Kent is when she was twelve-and-a-half and stayed for a month in the Sevenoaks home of her ninety-year-old Great Uncle.

Jane's brother Edward, born in 1767, was later adopted by distant Kentish cousins. This event was ultimately to provide Jane with great opportunities to explore the county and its social life. Francis, the oldest of Jane's two sailor brothers, met and married a Kentish girl whilst stationed in Ramsgate. This further extended Jane's opportunity for travel.

As well as being a guide to the Kentish places significant in the Austen family history, this book is also an exploration of the locations Jane knew personally. The journey takes us to pretty villages, pleasant market towns and the historic cities of Canterbury and Rochester. We visit great estates where Jane was a frequent and welcome guest; churches where she worshipped; venues where she danced and the turnpike roads along which she travelled recounting varying experiences at coaching inns.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Retired graphic designer Terry Townsend has had a lifelong interest in English literary landscapes. This latest book is an unashamed celebration of his favourite novelist. Terry's previous books for Halsgrove are Once Upon a Pint, a guide to the Literary Pubs & Inns of Dorset and Somerset, Kent Smugglers' Pubs, Jane Austen's Hampshire and Jane Austen and Bath. He now lives in Dorset with his wife Carol and their cat Smudge.

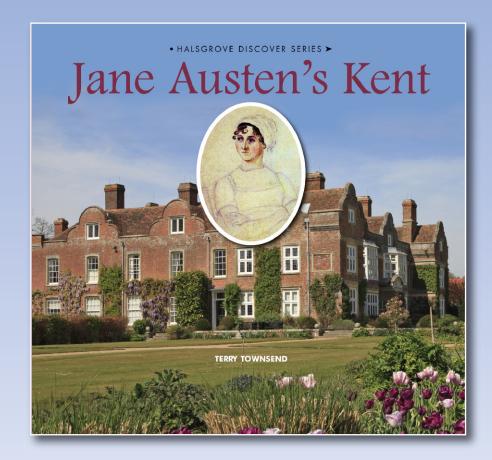

For a full listing of all Halsgrove titles, please visit our website at www.halsgrove.com

The Halsgrove Group includes DAA Halsgrove Ltd., Halsgrove Ltd. & Halstar Ltd.

Registered in England & Wales Nos. 4136732, 6029724 & 6472636 at Halsgrove House, Wellington TA21 9PZ.

Imprints: Halsgrove, Ryelands, Halstar, PiXZ Books & Halswood Journals. Halsgrove® is a registered trademark. Copyright® 2015

HALSGROVE TITLE INFORMATION

Format: Hardback, 144 pages, 214x230mm, profusely illustrated in colour throughout

Price: £16.99

ISBN: 978 0 85704 257 6

Imprint: Halsgrove Published: June 2015

Halsgrove Publishing, Halsgrove House, Ryelands Business Park, Bagley Road, Wellington, Somerset TA21 9PZ Tel: 01823 653777 Fax: 01823 216796 www.halsgrove.com e-mail: sales@halsgrove.com

JANE AUSTEN'S KENT

Above: Two pages of Jane Austen's History of England with illustrations by Cassandra.

Right: Jane set the fictional Pemberley in Derbyshire but she only had to raise her eyes and look out of her Godmersham window to see the type of landscape she was describing.

Above: The Great Stour adds attraction to the Canterbury scene as it flows under the High Street.

Example of a double-page spread.

TANK ATTERDED VENET

e let lyth first nurried was to Romadiu In Feld and was Romadiu In Feld and was Romadiu In Feld and was latter the beams letter of Feld Feld Romanie In Roman

An extraction of the control of the Writing of the interior and the magnificent staircase in particular, Nigel Nicholson in The World of Jance Ansten says: 'Oid Jance ever see it? She never specifically says she did, but Inneed little persuading that my hand is resting where hers rested too.' In 1991 Major Alan Woodham-Green, the last owner of Gordinson, established the Codimon today is a common total big, much-loved home; each room has a different feel, a contrast on a theme, not designed by architect or curator but for the taste and enjoyment of those who lived here over the centuries. It is open for visitors on summer afternoors from Friday to Sunday and on Bank Holiday Mondays. On each day tours of the house

Grovehurst dating to the early 1600s was the home of the earlier members of the Austen family, many of whose graves can be seen in the churchyard of St Margaret's in Horsmonden.

The Royal Victoria & Bull in Dartford High Street is the last remaining of the inns that Jane would have known.

-